Welcome to the JAPAN SUSTAINABILITY FORUM

Rio Tinto Aluminium is hosting the Japan Sustainability Forum, supported by the Aluminium Stewardship Initiative (ASI).

The ASI is striving to achieve a sustainable value chain in the global aluminium market from Environment, Social and Governance (ESG) perspective, by providing common standards and third-party certification mechanism. The Japan Sustainability Forum provides an opportunity to learn the ASI's vision and its role, together with great examples of how global business leaders are taking steps toward sustainability.

Rio Tinto Aluminium, as one of the ASI's founding members, supports the Japan Sustainability Forum to contribute the Japanese aluminium industry's ESG journey and sustainable growth.

About Japan Sustainability Forum:

- Participation from whole aluminium value chain – metal producers, processors/ fabricators, distribution, end-use and the associations.
- Opportunity to understand the ASI's background, role and function, and value proposition.
- Opportunity to consider and initiate tangible actions in each business from ESG and sustainability perspective.
- Opportunity for networking
